BEAUTY AND STRENGTH FOR THE LIBRARY.

The dual virtues of unusual beauty and great strength in a piece of furniture was never better illustrated than by the Library Table whose counterpart is shown above. It is a special Titus Offering.

GOLDEN OAK WITH WAX FINISH.

The center drawer is nearly twenty-six inches in depth—large enough to hold quite a mass of papers. The top measures three and one-half feet in length, thereby assuring plenty of room for one's books.

The Special "Titus Price" of the table is at least a third less than its selling price, which is bound to make this offering doubly interesting to those who seek really good things at bargain prices.

PROMINENT MEN DRIVEN OUT.

Expulsion from Alsace-Lorraine Due to Anti-German Agitation.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—A news despatch from Strassburg says that three members composing the firm of De Wendel & Co., proprietors of one of the largest iron works in Germany, and employing 30,000 men, have been expelled from Alsace-Lorraine. The reason for the expulsions are not known but presumably they were due to the alleged anti-German agitation of the De Wendels, who are an old and prominent French family. A French brother is a member of the Reichstag and of the council of state of Alsace-Lorraine.

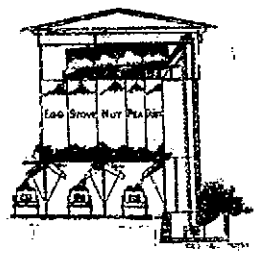

INNOVATION IN THE WORK.

Employment Bureau Established at Pittsburg Presbyterian Church.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5.—The Second Presbyterian Church of this city has established an employment bureau, the idea being that of Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, the supply pastor, who decided on this innovation in church work, because of the great number of requests for assistance in securing positions since the beginning of the winter. Dr. Shelton in describing the bureau said:

"The saving of bodies by providing means of sustenance for them lies just as much within the province of the church as does the saving of souls."

SEVENTH BISHOP OF RHODE ISLAND.

Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Jr., Consecrated to Office.

Bishop Lawrence Preaches Sermon at Impressive Ceremony.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 6.—Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Jr., formerly pastor of St. Paul's Church, New Haven, was today consecrated seventh bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island, at St. John's, the cathedral church of the diocese. The elevation of the new bishop to the episcopate was marked with the solemn and impressive ceremonies, according to the ritual of the church, and in which six bishops and about 200 of the clergy of Rhode Island and other states participated. Bishop Perry succeeds Rt. Rev. William N.

BISHOP PERRY.

The head of the Episcopal church in America, Bishop Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D. D. C. L. of Missouri, was the presiding prelate. Bishops Edwin S. L. Lines of Newark, N. J., and Alexander H. Vinton of Springfield, Mass., acted as co-consecrators, Bishops Chauncey B. Brewster of Connecticut and David H. Greer of New York were the presenting bishops, and the sermon was preached by Bishop William Lawrence of Cambridge, Mass. Rev. Dr. James De Wolf Perry of Philadelphia, father of the new bishop, and Rev. Dr. Edmund Swett Poussinniere, rector of St. Paul's Church, Boston, were the attending presbyters and Rev. Dr. Henry Sylvester Nash of Cambridge, Mass., was the deputy registrar. The church was crowded by many prominent in all walks of life, when the procession of priests and bishops in white vestments entered the church in the reverse order of their standing.

The regular Communion service in which all the prelates participated was begun and the sermon was preached by Bishop Lawrence. The sermon being ended the elected bishop, vested with his rotchet, was presented to the presiding bishop who, after having his testimonials read, required him to make the following promise of conformity to the church.

"In the name of God, amen. I, James De Wolf Perry, chosen bishop of the Protestant Episcopal churches in the diocese of Rhode Island, do promise conformity and obedience to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America, so help me God, through Jesus Christ."

After proceeding with the service, the presiding bishop examined the candidate for the episcopacy more thoroughly. The bishop-elect then donned the Episcopal habit and the laying on of hands by all the bishops followed. As a final act of consecration Presiding Bishop Tuttle presented a Bible to the new bishop and the Communion service was resumed with Bishop Perry assisting.

Bishop Perry although not a native of this state is of an old and prominent family of Rhode Island. His father and uncle are now ministers in the church, while his predecessors were famous in the naval history of the country, Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry and the hero of Lake Erie and Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry, who opened up the ports of Japan, were his grand uncles. He is 53 years old and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Bishop Lawrence, the preacher at the consecration service, took his text from St. John XX:21: "Then said Jesus unto them again: 'Peace be with you as my father has sent me, even so I send you.'" His sermon was a definition of the many and important duties of a bishop, with advice and counsel to the young prelate who is just taking up the responsibilities of the bishopric. He dwelt on several of the questions which the presiding bishop asks of the candidate, explaining their significance. Bishop Lawrence said in part:

"Upon scholars and experts in Biblical subjects we must rely for much of our knowledge about the Holy Scriptures, but when we have gained that, we cannot depend upon any one, except our own faithful study, to reach into the heart of the Scriptures for our own personal faith and life. While I am sympathetic with a desire for a practical administrative ministry and opinionate I am clear—and I know it from my own failures, that the popular demand upon the ministry and the bishops to be in the parish house, in the office, at the typewriter and on the street is excessive. Those who hope to be and who by their office ought to be spiritual leaders cannot catch scraps of thought from others and throw them out to the people as theirs. Thought, time, prayer, concentration in study only can fit a man to teach and preach what he really knows.

"The people today are bewildered upon many points of the faith of the scriptures and of life. In periodical and book they catch opinions true and

USED MAILS IN PLAN TO DEFRAUD.

Postoffice Officials Raid Inter-Trust Security Company.

President Weil Arrested and Two Employes Held as Witnesses.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—The local office of the Inter-Trust Security Company at 7 Water street, with branches offices at Lynn, Providence, and Baltimore, were visited today by the postoffice authorities, who removed all books, documents, and stocks and arrested President Victor M. Weil, on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Weil was held in $3,000 by the United States commissioner and will appear January 11 for a hearing.

The Inter-Trust Security Company was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts in 1901, and was interested, according to numerous circulars, in mining properties, which it advertised in a Mining Securities Review, which has reached more than 500 issues. Mr. Weil, who has been president of the company for some years, lives in Hyde Park and has obtained considerable notoriety during the past two years by providing free harbor excursions for poor children. The out of town offices of the company are at 49 Weybosset street, Providence, 10 Central Square, Lynn, and 916 West Baltimore street, Baltimore.

The company advertises especially Boston stock, Cobalt stock, Boston curb, Goldfield Stock, New York curb, San Francisco stock and Salt Lake Stock Exchange stocks. The company claimed that it did not buy or sell stocks on its own account, but acted only as fiscal agent for various mining propositions. The company occupied extensive offices in the Winthrop building, and employed a considerable force. Two employes were taken with Mr. Weil as witnesses. At the time of the visit of the postoffice authorities Lawyer Guy A. Ham, former Assistant United States district attorney, was in consultation with Weil. He followed the party to the federal building and appeared as counsel.

The subsidiary companies were the Rawhide Boston Mining Company, Nevada-Boston Mining Company, United States Gold Mining Company, Victor M. Weil Exploration Company, Howe Little Mining Company and the Standard Amalgamated Exploration Corporation. The properties were claimed to be located in Nevada and California, but the United States authorities claim that no attempt has ever been made to develop these mines.

PROPERTY OF CECIL GRACE.

Glasses and Cap Found in North Sea Identified as Those of Aviator.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Word was received today that the aviator's cap and glasses picked up in the North sea, off Mariakerke, Belgium, have been identified as those worn by Cecil Grice, who was lost while attempting to cross the English channel from Calais to Dover December 22. A diligent search of the coast in the vicinity of Mariakerke is being made in the hope of recovering the aviator's body.

INQUEST INTO DEATHS BEGINS.

London Officials Look Into the Killing of Two Anarchists.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The inquest into the death of the two outlaws, who were killed while resisting the police in their Sidney street home Tuesday, began today. The testimony showed that soldiers were summoned by the commissioner of police because the anarchists' revolvers were so superior to the weapons of the police, and that less than 50 police officers participated in the siege, the remainder being required to deal with the crowds.

The examination of the surgeon who performed the post mortems developed that one of the men was shot by the police or soldiers, while the other probably died from suffocation. One of the bodies showed a bullet hole through the skull, the bullet having entered back of the right ear. "I believe," said the witness, "that this injury caused the man's death. I do not believe the wound was self inflicted." The surgeon thought the victim died before the flames reached him. Appearances indicated to the physician that the second anarchist was suffocated. The inquest was adjourned until Monday.

ENOUGH NAMES TO ASSURE A CAUCUS.

Lippitt Claim Disputed by Supporters of Colt.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 6.—The interest at the State House is still centred in the contest for United States Senator, and that is likely to be the absorbing feature of each day's proceedings, until the matter is settled. This morning the leaders of the Lippitt faction claim that enough names have been signed to the call for a caucus to determine the choice of the Republicans for senator, not only to assure the holding of the caucus but the election of Lippitt. The Colt men claim that a number who have signed the call did so under a misrepresentation, that they were given to understand that the caucus would not be binding upon them to vote in the legislature for the choice of the caucus. Five at least of those who signed the call will not go into the caucus, and the Colt men say there is nothing to it but a deadlock. The supporters of both candidates were busy about the State House today, working in behalf of their men and absorbing practically all the interest of the legislative proceedings.

In the senate today Senator Sanborn, the Republican leader, offered a resolution requesting the members of Congress from Rhode Island to work for the passage of the bill giving members of the life saving corps pensions. Senator Sanborn spoke earnestly in favor of the resolution, and of the excellent work of the life saving corps and their present small pay. Senator McKenna, the Democratic leader, seconded Sanborn's motion, and it was passed unanimously. Congressmen de t O'Shaunessy and Fitzgerald were at the State House today and expressed much interest in the bill before Congress, announcing that they would urge its passage if it comes before them when they are members.

Senator Pierce of Cranston introduced an act regarding corrupt practices in elections. It provides that all campaign funds shall be made public, that all committees shall publish both before and after elections the names of contributors and the amount of their contributions to campaign funds, and that the fine for bribery be increased; limits the number of carriages to be used at voting places to two for each place, prohibits any person from making gifts of cigars, drinks, food or other refreshments within a distance of 500 feet of voting places; also prohibits any member of the legislature, state judiciary or state returning board, or the clerk of any state department, from serving on any political committee, and prohibits any electioneering within 500 feet of a voting place. The bill was laid on the table pending the appointment of the judiciary committee.

Senator Sanborn gave notice that a joint caucus of the Republican members of the senate and house will be held Tuesday at 11 o'clock, to nominate candidates for state officers, to be followed by such county and judicial district caucuses as have not already decided upon candidates for sheriffs and district judges and clerks. Announcement was also made that a joint caucus of the Democratic members will be held at 10:30 Tuesday morning.

In the house Mr. Eaton of Providence introduced two acts by request. One provides for the proper observance of Sunday, allowing small stores to be open within certain hours, and the other allows the city council of Providence to increase the pay of city employes.

Mr. West of Providence introduced an amendment to section 11 of chapter 300 of the Public Statutes, of the service of civil writs.

After adjournment the Providence Republicans organized by electing Representative Harry Cutler as chair-

ROADS WIN ON REPARATION.

Re-imbursement Does Not Always Follow Reduction in the Rates.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The awarding of reparation by no means necessarily follows the reduction of a rate, whether by voluntary action of the carriers or by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, is the principle laid down today by the commission to govern the proceedings in reparation cases.

For several years each reparation case presented to the commission has been determined on the facts adduced at the hearings, without reference to any rule of practice of the commission. On account of the immense number of reparation complaints filed by shippers, it has been deemed necessary that certain general principles be laid down. The principles are presented by Judge Clements in the case of the Anadarko Cotton Oil Company against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway and other carriers.

By the terms of the decision handed down the rates on cottonseed oil are reduced materially from points in Oklahoma to Galveston. The existing rates were declared to be unreasonable. Reparation, however, is not granted in the case, although it was prayed for by the complainant.

HELD FOR FRAUD.

Postmaster General Takes Another Step in Cleanig up Mails.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Another step in the attempt of Postmaster General Hitchcock to "clean up the mails" was taken today, when William W. Wheatley, living at Winchester and doing business in a blacksmith shop at Lawrence Mass., under the name of W. Wheatley & Co., pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Hayes on a complaint charging use of the mails with intent to fraud.

Wheatley was arrested at his place of business, 640 Essex street, Lawrence, by a federal officer today, on complaint of postoffice inspectors who have received complaints from between 60 and 70 merchants in various sections of New England and Canada, relative to the methods alleged to have been pursued by Wheatley. Wheatley was held by the commissioner in bail of $3,000 for his appearance before Commissioner Burns P. Hodgeman at Manchester, N. H., January 10.

According to the federal officials, Wheatley has corresponded with New England and Canadian merchants asking them to quote prices on carload lots of hay, grain, lumber, potatoes and other products. Orders for a sample carload would be sent by Wheatley to his correspondents, it is alleged, and upon receipt of the shipment he would find fault with its condition, finally offering one third of the quoted prices, in cash, in payment for the lot. If this offer was accepted it is alleged that Wheatley would begin another correspondence of fault-finding, with the alleged result of refusing to pay for the shipments.

When Wheatley was arrested today there were four carloads of hay in the Lawrence freight yards awaiting his disposition. It is further alleged by the prosecuting officials that Wheatley would sell the shipments consigned to him.

The federal officials claim that the aggregate of Wheatley's alleged fraudulent operations will amount to many thousands of dollars. The address, 646 Essex street, Lawrence, is a blacksmith shop, in which there was placed a desk and a very small amount of office furniture. Wheatley originally came from Nova Scotia. In 1907 he set up a hay and grain business in Boston and later moved to Manchester, N. H. In the New Hampshire city he had an office in the Kennard building. He became involved in bankruptcy proceedings at Manchester, his liabilities being placed between $16,000 and $17,650, with nominal assets of about the same amount.

RAILROAD NOT LIABLE.

Louisiana Woman Who Sues Line for Carrying Lynchers Loses Case.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Jan. 5.—Because a railroad company furnishes a special train to a party of men and it is used to convey a mob, bent on lynching, the railroad company cannot be held liable for damages. In effect, this decision was rendered yesterday by Judge Niles in the United States district court.

In the suit at issue, Mrs. Annie Rogers, whose husband was lynched at Tallulah, La., several years ago, sought the recovery of $50,000 from the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railroad. In her petition Mrs. Rogers held that the railroad company was liable for damages, because they furnished a train which transported the mob from Monroe, La., to Tallulah. Rogers was charged with killing Jesse Brown, a planter of Girard, La. Both men were prominent.

TRUE CONDITION OF BANKS.

National Institutions of United States Must Have Uniform System of Bookkeeping.

Disclosures following the forced liquidation of the Quanah National Bank of Quanah, Texas, 10 days ago caused the comptroller of the currency to issue an order directing every one of the 7,200 national banks in the United States to install what practically amounts to a uniform system of bookkeeping. Investigation of the Quanah bank disclosed that it had been doing business for the last two years, although undoubtedly insolvent, and, although inspected at regular intervals by national bank examiners were unable to learn the bank's true condition, largely because the management refused to keep a proper record of its business transactions, and that the entire capital of $50,000 and probably some of the $38,000 surplus was paid out to stockholders as dividends. In a statement Comptroller Murray concedes that his examiners were hoodwinked for two years by the way the bank handled its notes.

To insure a system of bookkeeping by which the true condition of a national bank can be determined at any moment the order issued directs examiners on finding the bank whose exact condition they cannot determine to report the fact by telegraph to Washington and give to the management of the bank 30 days to install the necessary books.

"At the end of that period," says the comptroller's order, "the examiner will return to the bank at its expense to determine if instructions have been complied with, and if the necessary books have not been installed he will remain in the bank at its expense until such books are installed under the direction and supervision of the examiner."

AMERICAN EXPLAINERS ABROAD.

[George Ade in Century.]

There are Americans who live abroad and speak of their native land in shameful whispers. Another kind is an explainer. He becomes fretful and involved in the attempt to make it clear to some Englishman with a cold and patronizing eye that, as a matter of fact, the buildings are scattered over a large territory and Tammany has nothing whatever to do with the United States Senate, and the millionaire does not crawl into the presence of his wife and daughters, and Morgan never can be king, and citizens of St. Louis are not in danger of being hooked by moose. After he gets through the Englishman says, "Really," and the painful incident is closed.

NEED OF LARGER PAY CORPS.

Paymaster General T. J. Cowle has submitted a special report to the Secretary of the Navy, asking departmental approval of a plan for increasing the navy pay corps, which is represented as needing about 40 officers in addition to the present commissioned strength. It will require legislation to accomplish what is desired by the Paymaster General, and so far the Secretary of the Navy has refused to give his approval to any plan not incorporated in the general personnel bill, now before the House naval committee. It is intended to hold hearings on this bill as soon as the naval appropriation bills has been reported. In the mean time Secretary Meyer believes that the departmental influence should be exerted entirely in behalf of the general bill, ignoring the minor projects which may interfere with it.

The navy pay corps, according to the paymaster general, is in great need of an increase in its personnel. The officers have been assigned to much additional duty by virtue of the installation on board ship of the general storekeeping system and the adoption of a new accounting system at navy yards. These improved methods call for more paymasters than it is possible to provide. In the last month some three or four have tendered their resignations because the work has become too arduous and the responsibilities too great. The paymaster general has invariably refused to accept such resignations.

Additional duties confronting the naval paymasters come from the establishment of commissary stores at the various navy yards, one of which is shortly to be opened at the Brooklyn yard for the benefit of officers living in the neighborhood, who will thus be able to buy their provisions and home supplies cheaper than in the ordinary market. There has been some criticism of this commissary store but it has been authorized by law, and is of decided benefit to naval officers and their families. The demand for a store has come from every navy yard, and the delay in the extension of the system is due to the lack of paymasters. In this connection there has arisen again the question of amalgamating the navy pay corps with the line, in which event line officers would be detailed to perform the duties now devolving upon the paymasters, as under the army system. It is doubtful, however, that the navy will adopt this method, which is coming in for some criticism in the military establishment.

Although Secretary Meyer will probably not send to Congress the draft of the bill which has been prepared, contemplating the enlargement of the pay corps, Paymaster General Cowle's letter on the subject is one which describes the situation as most urgent and in need of prompt attention.

TO IMPORT BRAZILIAN BEEF.

A presidential proclamation has been issued in Brazil, giving authorization to an American corporation, with headquarters in New York, to do business in that country. The corporation has been given meat and cattle concessions, and it is probable that within six months or a year Brazilian beef will be exported from that country for the American market.

He'll tell you there's nothing else quite so good as castor oil—and he's right. Yet how few people care to take this most efficacious of all laxatives in the old fashioned way.
There's a new form—Castor-Lax—castor oil with magnesia, in pure white powder form—that is not only effective, but is actually tasteless; indeed, you'd never suspect you were taking oil if you didn't know. Any druggist has Castor-Lax or will gladly get it for you.

HOW OFTEN
We hear the expression, "the medicine is worse than the disease." The expression is frequently used by people who are obliged to take Cod Liver Oil. In former years there was nothing for the patient to do but take Cod Liver Oil and look pleasant. The rapid advances made in modern pharmacy in recent years have brought about many changes in the manner of preparing medicines for the sick and in no instance is this more marked than in our Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, which contains all the medicinal properties of the purest Cod Liver Oil with the disagreeable taste and smell of the oil eliminated and the tonic and reconstructive properties of the hypophosphites added. It is valuable as a preventative against colds as well as curative.

WOMENS' REQUEST REFUSED.

Navy Department Has no Concern in Design of Silver Service for Battleship Utah.

The aggressive and widespread campaign championed by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Salt Lake City chapter, to have the President or the Secretary of the Navy interfere to prevent placing a picture of Brigham Young and the Mormon Temple on the silver service purchased by popular subscription in Utah for the battleship named for that state, has come to naught. Hugh Gordon Miller, as representative of the women's Republican clubs, which were active in the crusade, has received from the Navy Department the following letter:

"The department is in receipt by reference from the President of your letter of the twenty-first instant, protesting against the acceptance of the silver service presented to United States steamship Utah by the state of Utah, which, it is alleged, is engraved with a picture of Brigham Young and the Mormon Temple, and in reply begs to inform you that it does not feel that it can prescribe the pattern or design of any service. This, it would seem, it has no concern in, and in the past such details have always been considered as pertaining to the individual state. If it be true that the silver service for the Utah has been patterned as you report, the department is inclined to the opinion that it would be injudicious and inadvisable to raise any question of issues in which it can be in no wise concerned."

One of the leaders opposing the proposed decoration of the silver service was Mrs. H. S. Owens of Salt Lake City, who went to New York a few weeks ago and engaged the support of many organizations of women in her crusade, gaining hundreds of signatures to the petition sent to President Taft. The attitude taken by Mrs. Owen and those who joined in her campaign was that Brigham Young was a rebel against the authority of the United States and a person unfit to be memorialized in the equipment of a United States war vessel. The decoration is a scene at the head of Main street in Salt Lake City, the picture being largely taken up with the statue of Brigham Young which is placed there, with the Mormon Temple as a background.

A YEAR OF MAYOR GAYNOR.

[New York Tribune, Rep'n.]

The gains to the city from Mayor Gaynor's first year in office are chiefly moral. It is not possible to point to a reduction in the cost of municipal government, at least as measured by budgets. It is not possible to single out any striking achievement of administration. No extraordinary success comparable with that of Colonel Waring has been recorded by any of his heads of departments. No contribution to the art of governing American cities has been made; at least no method or device has been disclosed which other cities may imitate, saying, "Herein have we erred. Thus in the future shall we be well governed."

The moral gain from such an administration as Mayor Gaynor's has been thus far is that it elevates the standards which the people will apply to future administrations. But it would not be fair to imply that the present administration has really set higher standards than some of its predecessors maintained, for the mayor has really only applied the same principles which guided various anti-Tammany administrations which preceded him. He has, like them, largely denied the claims of political organizations and put the public interest first, relying on getting their lesson that the way to a betterment of municipal government lies through ending the attempt to serve the two masters, political machines and the public interest.

This lesson Mayor Gaynor has been able to reinforce with an effectiveness all his own, because he has a personality that holds public attention, a knack for the dramatic, a homely wit and a fresh way of saying old things. He vitalizes the business of self-government and keeps up day in and day out the jagging interest of a busy people in it, and he is thus writing deep into the public consciousness and impression of what good city government is and how it is to be obtained.

THE SUPREME COURT BENCH AGAIN FILLED.

For the first time since the organization of the court, nearly a century and a quarter ago, one President has commissioned within a singe year five men to sit upon the Supreme Bench. At the opening session of the court Chief Justice White administered to the two new judges the oath of allegiance. This took place behind the closed doors of the robing room just before the court took its place on the bench at noon.

In open court Chief Justice White directed the clerk of the court to read the commissions. Then Justice Vandevanter, having been named first by the President, took the judicial oath first and was escorted by the marshal to the chair on the extreme right of the chief justice. Justice Lamar, after he had subscribed to the oath, was shown to his seat, which was at the extreme left of the chief justice. Justice Lurton shook hands with Justice Vandevanter and Justice Hughes congratulated Justice Lamar. This ended the ceremony.

It has been just 19 months to the day since all the nine chairs on the bench were occupied. After May 2, 1909, Justice Moody, now retired, was compelled to lay aside his duties and seek restoration of health. He was not successful and finally retired from the bench last November. Exactly a year ago, January 3, 1910, Justice Lurton took the oath of office as an assistant justice. He was the first appointee to that bench by President Taft, and succeeded Justice Peckham, deceased. Then Justice Brewer and Chief Justice Fuller died and Justice Moody retired. Justice Hughes was appointed to succeed Justice Brewer. Associate Justice White was promoted to succeed Chief Justice Fuller, Justice Van Devanter took the place of Justice Moody and Justice Lamar succeeded to the vacancy created by the promotion of Justice White.

All these changes in the personnel on the bench have taken place within a single year, with the exception of the death of Justice Packham. Only Washington has equalled this record. When the court was constituted five judges bearing his commissions went on the bench within the first year. Jackson, Lincoln and Grant each are accredited with naming five members of the court, but their appointments spread over their entire terms.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

[New Orleans Picayune, Dem.]

President Taft has announced his desire for re-election to the great office he holds. His is a worthy desire, for a second term is a popular endorsement of his first essay at administering the affairs of this great nation, and it is but natural that every man who has been President of these United States should desire it.

If we are to have another Republican President, above all let us have Mr. Taft. He is a man of the highest character, a citizen devoted to the best interests of the country and its people, and he possesses many traits of disposition that endear him to all who know him. But with all due regard and no little admiration for the President as he is, the Picayune earnestly hopes and humbly prays that the next President will be a Democrat, the best man in the party, whoever he may be, and at least as worthy and able as William H. Taft.

BROADER SONDER CLASS RULES.

The Imperial Yacht Club of Germany, of which Emperor William is the commodore, has made a sportsman-like move to obviate the possibility of American yacht owners suffering a disadvantage through a too strict construction of the Sonder class rules at the Kiel regatta of next June.

The Sonder class racing rules specify that the hulls of competing yachts must be built of mahogany or cedar, the latter term, as used in Europe, meaning heavier red cedar. They also bar the use of hollow spars. It was feared that the use of white cedar planking or "built-up" masts by the Americans might subject them to a technical protest.

The club through Vice Admiral Barenden sent a circular note to the prospective German entrants, asking them to forego the privilege of a possible protest against the American boats on the grounds mentioned above. The club says it considers that the Americans are eligible in spirit and wishes to avoid the risk of a quibble on the part of German owners at the last moment.

American yachtsmen who heard of the action of the Germans praised the sportsmanlike motives which prompted the issuing of the circular. Americans are confident that the German yachtsmen will accept the suggestion of the Imperial Yacht Club. The races abroad and in this country have been singularly free from bickering between the representatives of the rival countries interested in the sport.

With victories over the German and Spanish sonder yachts in the last two successive years, the Americans are confident of winning this year again. They expect to have as great a triumph at Kiel against the pick of the German boats as they had at Marblehead in 1909 over the boats the Germans sent over and as sweeping a victory as over the Spanish yachts off the Massachusetts coast last summer.

From the records of recent years in the sport the American boats seem to be the fastest of their type in the world. Success has followed success for the Americans in the last few years. The American boats have been beaten in international races, but now the boatbuilders in this country think they have the construction of the little craft down to such a science that they can turn out boats superior to any other in the world.

....Lieutenant Governor-elect Atlee Pomerene of Canton, Ohio, was nominated on the first ballot at the Democratic caucus for United States Senator to succeed Charles Dick, Republican. The legislature is Democratic and he will be elected at the joint session Tuesday. Atlee Pomerene is 47 years old, was graduated from Princeton in 1884 with honors and from the Cincinnati Law School in 1886, since which time he has practiced law at Canton. He was nominated for lieutenant governor at Dayton last June against his wishes. He has been active in state politics, but has had only one state honor, that of membership on the tax commission appointed by former Governor Harris.

....Judge Edward Baldwin Whitney, appointed to the supreme court bench of New York to fill the vacancy which had been caused by the death of Justice Charles W. Dayton, by Governor White Dec. 24, died at his country home in Cornwall, Conn., Thursday. A cold contracted by Judge Whitney on his way over from Albany, after being sworn in, brought on congestion in the lungs which did not take on a serious form until last Saturday, when double pneumonia became marked. Judge Whitney was one of the most prominent lawyers at the New York bar prior to assuming a judgeship on the supreme court bench of the first district, which seat he resigned Dec. 24, and was immediately appointed as the late Judge Dayton's successor. A descendant of one of the earliest families of New England, he was born at New Haven on Aug. 16, 1857. At Yale University he was a member of the famous class of 1878, of which President Taft was a member.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Newport Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes of any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Newport citizen says:

M. W. Cook, 29 Bridge St., Newport, R. I., says: "For several years I did a great deal of driving and heavy work and in this my kidneys were weakened. I suffered from backache and lameness in my left kidney and I was obliged to lay off from work a great deal. The kidney secretions contained sediment, resembling brick-dust, and were very irregular in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I finally procured at Wright & Hay's Drug Store proved to be just the remedy required in my case and the great benefit I derived from their use has been permanent."

THE BEST MEN NEEDED IN CITY GOVERNMENT.

Fear is expressed by those who have carefully watched the course of events that, if the voters of this city do not generally use more intelligence and patriotism in the selection of men for office, and if the Representative Council does not make better choice for the executive positions than it sometimes has done, the municipal government will fall far below the standard which it should reach. They point to the fact that in repeated elections good men and true have failed and those possessing far less qualifications have been sent to the Council to do the important work of the city. The Council itself has frequently put men in executive places for no other reason apparently than that they desired the positions or needed the money which the salaries afford. In fact, popular elections and the action of the Council in filling the offices have seemed to be more a game than a careful, conscientious selection of the best men to do the work required.

To show the narrow lines and low plane upon which our elections are sometimes decided, a case may be cited where several candidates were named for a vacancy. One was a man who, judged from every standpoint, was eminently fitted for the place and if elected would have done credit to the city at home and abroad. He was defeated. Another, of no experience in affairs, of no fitness whatever for the position, who would not have been selected for the most humble place in a private business corporation, was chosen. The only possible reason for his election was undoubtedly because he would vote in the Council for a certain other man for an office for which he in turn had not the highest qualifications. At one time the Council elected to the important position of city solicitor a man of so little experience and ability that the records are said to show that every case for six months was lost in the courts. The contestants had not better cases, but had abler and more experienced counsel.

It has been said many times, and it should not be forgotten, that a city is a corporation, organized for a most important object—to give the people a fair, honest and intelligent government at the minimum of cost. In order to do this it is absolutely necessary, as in the case of other corporations, that the best men to be had should be chosen to do the business. For a city not to avail itself in such a case of the best material to be had is very unwise.

Newport has many able business and professional men who have made a success of their private affairs and are willing to aid in municipal work if asked to do so, though without ambition to fill public positions. It is also particularly fortunate in having a large number of men among its citizens who, after living years in other places, have come here to make their residence. They have bought homes and identified themselves with the religious and philanthropic work of the city, giving largely of their time and means to its various activities. Many of these men are willing to participate in the government of the municipality if their fellow-citizens wish them so to act. They do not seek any preferment, having come here to live quiet lives after large activities elsewhere, but consider a call to public position one not to be declined.

It is not to the credit or the interest of Newport that such service as these men would give without the hope of reward except the approval of their consciences and of their fellows, should not be gladly used. The Daily News has not the slightest desire that one man or another should be put into public place, except in so far as the best interest of the city shall be served. Yet, as identified perhaps more largely than any other local institution with the welfare and prosperity of Newport, it cannot refrain from urging that a better view of the situation shall obtain, and that for the good of all concerned a great improvement over recent action shall be made. If the place is not prospering commercially as much as some could wish, may it not be for the reason that the city does not always avail itself of the best men among its citizens to give direction to its affairs? Newport is called one of the fairest cities in the country. It should have the best government, as an outgrowth of the highest intelligence and patriotism.

THE PANAMA CANAL LIBELS.

Colonel Roosevelt is not a lawyer, but when he was President he had an Attorney General to advise him and most of the members of his cabinet were lawyers. It is not a little surprising, therefore, that he was able to institute libel suits in the federal courts against newspapers in New York and Indianapolis for publishing an alleged libel. The district attorney in Indianapolis had so little faith in the case that he resigned rather than prosecute it, but Attorney General Bonaparte, whatever his professional opinion may have been, preferred to prosecute rather than resign.

In Indianapolis Judge Anderson refused to allow the publishers of a newspaper to be extradited to the District of Columbia to be tried, and he is the judge whom Roosevelt was recently reported to have called a "crook and a jackass." Of course the power of the government to harass newspapers would be enormous if it could take them from their homes and force them to a trial in Washington, committed by governmental influences, on the ground that a copy of the paper was circulated in Washington and hence the libel was committed there.

Judge Hough of New York threw the case out of court, on the ground that the circulation of the paper containing the alleged libel in the Military Academy did not bring the case within the jurisdiction of the federal courts. Libel is an offense against the state laws and is to be prosecuted in the state courts. The Supreme Court sustains the two lower judges and holds that the law under which the prosecution was instituted is not applicable—one of the lower judges said it were applicable it would be unconstitutional—and that the circulation of the newspaper on a military reservation could not be treated as an offense apart from the publication of the paper at its home office. There are nearly 3,000 reservations in the United States and a widely circulated paper might be prosecuted in every one of them, according to the theory on which the Department of Justice proceeded.

THE COST OF PEACE.

The world's armaments have been increasing rapidly since the Boer war. The difficulties which England had in fighting the Transvaal, together with the perennial German scare, have led to the increase of army and the great increase of naval expenditures. The latter have set all the naval powers to increasing their fleets by the addition of Dreadnoughts and super-Dreadnoughts, which are terribly expensive machines. The effect of our war with Spain and the acquisition of the Philippines has been to more than double our navy and increase our army three fold.

Edmond Thery, a French economist, has made a startling computation of the cost to Europe of maintaining the peace by the efforts of each nation to have a bigger army and navy than any other. It is impossible that each nation should be more powerful than all others, but the cost of the effort is appalling. Mr. Thery calculates that in 25 years, during which there has been no war in Europe and only the Japanese and Boer wars in which European nations have been engaged, the cost of European armaments has amounted to twenty-nine billion dollars, of which twenty billions have been wrung from the people by taxes and nine billions have been added to public debts, which are never paid off and on which the people must pay interest generation after generation. The fact that four million men are constantly maintained in a state of absolute idleness, industrially speaking, is not less important than the cost of supporting them and equipping them with frightfully expensive weapons.

War vessels five years old are partially out of date, and the introduction of Dreadnoughts has made the smaller battleships previously built of relatively little value. Every few years all the infantry of European armies are re-armed with more powerful rifles and the old weapons are simply thrown away. All the artillery are re-armed with more powerful field guns. From time to time a new explosive makes the old powder worthless, or nearly so. The question has repeatedly been asked how long this waste can be maintained, but taxation in most European countries seems nearly to have reached its limits and such increase of fleets and armies, or even the support of the present, cannot continue indefinitely.

The action of the Board of Health in arranging a public lecture on "Modern Methods of Garbage Disposal" by a man who is well versed in the work in a large city is in the right direction. It is well for the people of Newport to learn how things are done in other places, that there may be improvement, if need be, in our own methods. The lecture ought to be well attended, and it is hoped will be followed by others of a similar nature on subjects of equal importance.

Governor-elect Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey in his public campaign against James Smith, jr., as a candidate for United States Senator, arraigns Smith as a representative of special interests. He declares that his attack is not personal and that he implies nothing against Smith, except that the latter can think only as the great corporations think. He also declares that he will never be in favor of a compromise on the Senatorial question.

A bill prohibiting the use of common drinking cups in all public conveyances and places will soon be presented to the legislature. It is being prepared by the State Board of Health, working in conjunction with the anti-tuberculosis association, and will be somewhat similar to that in force in Massachusetts and several Western states. Such a measure ought to pass.

The Maine Democrats, in power in that state for the first time in 30 or more years, are moving rapidly to carry out their pledges. The Sturgis liquor enforcement law, which is to be repealed, has proved the most unpopular legislation ever enacted in the state.

The Senatorship is likely to be the principal issue in the General Assembly until it is settled, and there is little prospect that it will be immediately disposed of.

MEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY.

[New York Tribune.]

The anarchist tragedies in London and the reports of extensive criminal conspiracies in that city, some of them in connection with the coronation of the king, suggest the imminence of a crisis in the long contest between society and its enemies. By society is meant, of course, all human communities which are organized upon bases of civil and moral law; by its enemies are meant those who pretend that all law is tyranny and that no restraint should be offered to the gratification of the individual's desires and passions, no matter what these may be. That was the pretence of those alien anarchists in London, who held that they had a right in the name of "the cause" to loot jewellers' shops at will, and that the sacred principles of human liberty entitled them to kill policemen who interfered with the exercise of that right. The practice of theft has been common enough in all ages, but it has not always borne the additional offensiveness of a pretence of right.

For many years England, being perhaps on the whole the freest country in the world, has been the chief and favorite asylum of these potential and often actual criminals, and for that reason it has been, or has been supposed to be, the most securely exempt from their outrages. It was long a commonplace of remark that the British sovereign was safe from all the plots and assaults which menaced the heads of other states, because the anarchists were too shrewd to deprive themselves of their only asylum by committing deeds which would cause their expulsion from the United Kingdom and would align the British with the Continental policy against them. That rule held good for many years, but it must be doubted whether it will hold good much longer. The anarchists, who enjoy asylum in London have for some time increasingly manifested an inclination to abuse that asylum with the same practice which caused their proscription in other lands.

There can be only one result of such a course. England is long suffering and patient, but the temper which has been aroused, first by the Indian assassinations, next by the Houndsditch murders and now latest by the tragedy of Whitechapel is unmistakable in its purport. The United Kingdom is not likely to remain a free asylum for anarchists. And what then? There is no other refuge for them, and should he none. They will become literally men without a country, in much the same condition on land that pirates are in at sea. Nor will this be unjust. Since they deny all human government, they are entitled to no protection and no tolerance from any. Since they declare themselves enemies of society they cannot complain if society everywhere turns its hand, an armed hand, against them.

PENSION EXPENDITURES.

[Springfield Republican.]

The regular pension bill now before the House carries $159,014,000. The largest pension appropriation ever made was slightly over $160,000,000, but a few years ago, so that the annual cost of war pensions is still very close to the maximum. It is admitted by the House pensions committee that the bill increasing the service pensions received by veterans of 62 years or over would augment the annual appropriation to nearly $200,000,000, yet that committee has not hesitated to report in favor of the passage of the measure.

Experience in fighting extravagant pension legislation since the Civil war has not been encouraging to opponents, but a few years ago it was believed that with the final establishment of an old age pension for Civil war soldiers the limit of pension expenditure would be quickly reached. Authoritative statements used to be made to the effect that such or such a maximum would never be exceeded because of the inexorable logic of the mortality tables, yet the present outlook discloses a new method by which the pension expenditure 50 years after South Carolina seceded may be sent to unheard-of limits.

If the bill increasing the service pension rates should pass both houses of Congress, President Taft would face a responsibility calling for all of his courage. A veto from him, however, could be expected, and it is certain that it would be imperatively demanded by the public interests.

Seaconnet Point Light Keeper Rescued from Drowning by Aged Couple.

Boy Saved by Companion, After Falling Through the Ice—Providence White Slaver Sentenced.

Standing almost shoulder deep in the surf at West Island, off Seaconnet point, in momentary danger of being swept off their feet, Mr. and Mrs. John Sowle, both nearly 70 years old, saved Walter Smiley, assistant keeper, of the Seaconnet Point light, from death by drowning Wednesday. Smiley, who was thrown into the water by the heavy seas which first wrenched his oars out of his hands, and a moment afterward capsized his dory, swam three quarters of a mile before his strength gave out, just before he reached West Island. Mr. and Mrs. Sowle, keepers of the West Island clubhouse, had watched the man's struggle for life, and both waded out into the water with grappling irons in attempt to prevent the sweeping of Smiley's inert body past the island and out to sea. The irons clutched the drowning mans' body and the aged couple slowly made their way to the beach, finally reaching safety with what to all appearances was a dead body. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sowle were nearly exhausted by their struggle with the surf and the work of rescue. It was found that Smiley was still breathing, however, and the Sowles laid the body over a barrel and attempted to resuscitate the unconscious man. After a time he began to show signs of returning consciousness. He was carried into the West Island Club and revived fully with the use of stimulants.

Edward Swenson, 13 years old, of Rumford, saved Raymond Leonard, 11 years old, from drowning at the old Central pond in that town, after the younger lad had broken through the ice. The rescue was made with a clothes pole, which Swenson extended to the other boy and then pulled Leonard out of the water. Raymond went to the pond with two other boys of about his own age, to see if the ice was thick enough for skating. Leonard stepped out on the ice to try its strength, but had gone only a little way from shore when the ice crumbled beneath his feet and he fell in. The boy disappeared and then came to the surface, crying lustily for help. His two companions joined in the shouting, which was heard by Edward Swenson and also by his mother. The boy took a clothes pole and the woman a clothes line and both hurried to the pond. Leonard was still clinging to the ice and had just enough strength to hold the pole which Swenson held out to him. Pulling the younger lad out of the water was a matter of only a few seconds, and all joined in the tugging which brought the rescued youngsters to the shore. As soon as he reached safety young Leonard, benumbed by the cold and exhausted by his struggles to keep above water, fainted. He was carried to the home of his grandfather, with whom he lived, and speedily recovered.

The first defendant to receive sentence in the Superior Court under the new law against the white slave traffic was Antonio Biaggio, who was sent to the state prison Thursday by Judge Rathbun for a term of two years. Biaggio is a young Italian who lived in a house on Avery street in Providence. He was suspected by the police of carrying on an illicit business by selling liquor, and a watch was set upon his place. The result was that he was indicted by the grand jury for maintaining a nuisance and also for violation of the law against the white slave traffic. When the cases against him were called up by Assistant Attorney General Henry W. Greenough, Biaggio entered a plea of nolo to each indictment. Sentence was deferred on the nuisance case. Mr. Greenough told the court that the defendant had taken Katherine Aroldi, a young girl, from her relatives with whom she was living in Lawrence, Mass., her father having died some years previous, on a promise to obtain employment for her. He had taken her to a house, the court was informed, where he secured possession of her clothes, refused to return them to her and threatened to kill her unless she would submit to his wishes. Biaggio later took the girl to Lowell and from that city brought her to Providence, and kept her at the place on Avery street. Mr. Greenough said the defendant kept her there for immoral purposes, in a condition of slavery. The sentence of two years in State prison was imposed after the court had been requested to give the man substantial punishment.

Congressman Capron has received from Nathaniel F. Bacon and others of Peace Dale, petitions signed by a large number of citizens of that place, protesting against the passage of additional bills providing increased pensions. The petitions open with the statement that "the pension bureau covers the greatest scandal in the history of the world," and explains that, in the opinion of the petitioners, hundreds of thousands of dollars are annually appropriated for pensions which have been fraudulently obtained. Mr. Capron has also received the petition of the Rhode Island Chapter of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association, remonstrating against the proposed establishment of a prison near the site of George Washington's Mount Vernon home, and the petitions of the town councils of Kingston and Westerly, urging increased appropriations for the betterment of the life saving service; also the petitions of the Retail Grocers' and Marketers' Association of Pawtucket and the Thimble Club of Providence favoring reduction of tax on oleomargarine, and the petition of the Theodore W. Foster & Brother Company of Providence, George H. Fuller & Son Company of Pawtucket, and the Hitchcock-Banks Motor Company for enforcement of the federal registration of motor vehicles engaged in interstate traffic. Mr. Capron has also received the resolutions of the Rhode Island Bar Association favoring increased compensation for all federal judges, and the petition of the committee of public morals of the Churches' and Christian Workers' Association of Rhode Island praying that the shipment of liquor into "dry" territory will be prohibited.

Josiah S. Packard, head of the J. S. Packard Dredging Company, which has filled many dredging contracts in Narragansett bay and adjacent waters, died Thursday at Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore, Md. Mr. Packard became ill in November and when he had partly recovered his strength went to Baltimore to undergo an operation. Meanwhile anaemic poisoning caused a fever, the abatement of which the surgeons awaited before they could perform the operation. The poisoning, however, gained the upper hand and resulted in Mr. Packard's death. He had been in Baltimore about three weeks. Josiah S. Packard was born in Enfield, Mass., in 1823, and came to New England in 1876, engaging in the dredging business in the Atlantic Dredging Company, of which his brother, H. G. Packard, was the head. Josiah Packard became secretary of the concern. In 1899 he started in the dredging business for himself under the name of the J. S. Packard Dredging Company. His brother also organized the H. G. Packard Dredging Company. The J. S. Packard Company secured contracts for most of the dredging work in Narragansett bay, having had the work in the Providence and Pawtucket rivers, Green Jacket Shoal, Mount Hope bay and elsewhere in the waters of the state. The headquarters of the concern have been in Providence.

Allyn K. Capron Camp, No. 1, and Sidney F. Hoar Camp, No. 4, Department of Rhode Island, United Spanish War Veterans, of Providence, held sessions for the annual installation of officers Thursday evening. An interesting feature of the former was its endorsement of Major Charles W. Abbot, jr., U. S. A. (retired), for the office of adjutant general. Major Abbot is the state commander of the Rhode Island Department of the organization and served as the installing officer at Capron Camp's exercises.

In a case in the civil session of the Sixth District court in Providence Thursday it was shown that a young man employed as an elevator operator for one of the large business houses in that city had $36.10 on a loan of $10 and an additional $22.50 in fees and incidentals, making a total of $58.60, although the loan company held that there was a substantial balance still due. Judge Gorham gave judgment for the defendant for costs.

A total of 2152 positions were filled through the state free employment bureau, according to the third annual report. The report says that the most pressing need of the bureau is a special agent to seek work for the unemployed, and goes into detail in the history of the last year.

A supreme court opinion written by Chief Justice Dubois holds that the sections of chapter 198 of the General Laws relating to the seizure of bottles bearing the owner's registered trade mark is constitutional.

FAIRBANKS MAKES GOOD.

As "The Cub" Reporter He, With His Good Company, Gives an Excellent Performance.

When "The Gentleman from Mississippi" was presented in Newport some months ago Douglas Fairbanks acted the part of the young newspaper man who became secretary to the newly-elected Senator, and shared with the star the honors of the play. Thursday evening Mr. Fairbanks came back to Newport as the star in a new play, a so-called farcical satire, "The Cub," and as the young newspaper reporter, Stev Oldham, "made good" with an audience which completely filled the Opera House and gave frequent expression to its enjoyment of the play and its appreciation of the good acting by Mr. Fairbanks and his supporting company.

The author has selected a field and a theme which is new to the stage, the mountains of Kentucky, and the feuds which frequently occur in those regions. It was an interesting story, interestingly presented and finely staged. Mr. Fairbanks as the resolute young reporter on a strange assignment, amid difficulties which an older man would have hesitated about assuming on account of the dangers involved, was well adapted to the character and gave a pleasing portrayal of the part. Anne Meredith as Alice Bentley, the leading female character, was charming, and the remainder of the cast was in strong hands. The entire company was well balanced and the production showed an evenness and general excellence which only skilled actors and a thorough knowledge of the play can give.

FUNERAL OF BENJAMIN U. CARR.

The funeral of Benjamin U. Carr was held this afternoon from his late residence on Prospect Hill street and was the occasion for the gathering of a number of old Newporters, some of whom because of years have given up active work, while others are still in the harness. The simple service at the house was conducted by Mr. John S. Kimber of the Friends' Church, where the deceased attended when he was able. Then the casket was borne out of the house by Letter Carriers John S. Carr, who took the place of the deceased on the force 20 years ago, and William A. Ward, who at that time was a clerk in the postoffice, and a delegation from Rhode Island Lodge—William H. Sisson, N. Peterson, R. M. Pike, Jr., and N. H. Jones. A delegation from the lodge escorted the body to the grave, where the Odd Fellows' burial ritual was performed. There were a number of floral pieces, among them one from the letter carriers and another from the lodge.

COUGHED UP TWELVE PEARLS.

J. R. Thompson, a retired business man of Clifton Springs, N. Y., choked while eating oysters at a Pittsburg hotel. It required the services of a waiter to restore him to his normal self. Then he coughed into his napkin and was surprised to find 12 pearls, from the size of a pea to a shot. He believed he swallowed others. At least five of the pearls are said to be valuable.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Hugh P. Brady has returned from New York.

—Mrs. John Nicholas Brown is in Providence for a few days.

—Mr. John A. Jordan is again on duty at the New York boat landing, after a two weeks' incarceration with grip.

—An insane man was this morning sent to the state asylum, after an examination by physicians. A drunk at the police station paid $2 and costs.

—City Treasurer J. M. Taylor is among the many Newporters who went to Providence today to attend the consecration of Bishop Perry.

—Mr. Henry Sullivan, who has been spending his Christmas vacation here with his parents, has returned to St. Laurent College, Montreal, to resume his studies.

—The ponds are frozen over, but the ice is still a trifle thin for skating. At the present rate, however, there should be skating soon. There is some thin ice in the slips along the harbor.

—DeBlois & Eldridge have rented for Mrs. H. Ruthven Pratt her estate at the corner of Bellevue and Parker avenues, known as "Arleigh," to James D. Haggin, for the season of 1911.

—Mrs. Theresa L. Soule has returned home after spending several days in Providence, where Tuesday she, with Mrs. A. Chauncey Littlefield and Miss Nelia Crowley, was a guest at the inauguration dinner.

—A special car attached to the 1:02 train out this afternoon took a draft of 35 apprentices to Boston. Another draft of 55 is due to leave by boat tonight for Philadelphia. There are many going on leave who will go as they please.

—R. E. Jones, J. S. Cole and H. B. Merriman of New York, A. C. Brown and J. A. Korwell of Boston, Frank B. Fitzsimmons of Lonsdale, J. C. L. Elliott of Chicago and C. W. Shepard of Philadelphia are registered at the Perry House.

—A handsome piece of brass work has arrived from the Tiffany studio at Corona, Long Island, for the Commodore James cottage. It is a brass burial piece for the entrance and shows what can be done in such work by artists.

—The wind has veered around to the southeast, the heavy wind Thursday has passed by, and today will pass for a fairly fine day, without too much heat or too much wind. A little more cold would please the ice men and those who are waiting for skating.

—Reports from the hospital state that Mr. M. F. Sullivan, who was seriously injured by a fall at his home on Friendship street, is gradually sinking, growing weaker each day. His death is expected in a short time. He is still conscious and recognizes friends.

—The fishermen struck hard luck Thursday. The weather was so fine in the morning that they all went out. Then came the snow flurry and the southwest gale, and most of the boats lost some gear. They caught some fish, but their gear loss will more than make up for that. It was a pretty rugged day outside when that blow was on.

—Under the auspices of the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church a pleasing concert was rendered Thursday evening in Masonic hall. Each state in the Union was represented by a girl in red, white, and blue costume. A feature was the chorus of 48 voices, accompanied by the newly organized orchestra. This, consisting of 12 pieces, gave a satisfactory part of the program, being directed by Mrs Herbert Townsend under the leadership of Mr. Ramond Jackson violinist.

SEVENTH BISHOP OF RHODE ISLAND.

false, they are not heeding voices because they come from the pulpit or the bishops, but they do heed men, preachers or bishops who, because of their study, experience, and character stand on substantial ground and speak whereof they themselves know. I believe that the church suffers heavily today because the bishops and others who should be strong leaders of Christian opinion are so busy with affairs, visitations, and details of parishes and missions that they do not keep up the faithful study of earlier years. Thought and Biblical study and interpretation move on and the people know it. Unable to speak with first knowledge, we speak tentatively and cautiously or think it wiser not to speak at all. And men and women in and out of the church respect us for our goodness, our wise silence and our efficient administration and turn to others who do speak by the persuasion of thoughtful study and earnest conviction for their spiritual leadership."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Captain Robert E. Peary will appear before the house committee on naval affairs tomorrow, to answer a running fire of questions concerning his Polar achievements. A sub-committee met today and discussed the question of recognition of the explorer, by act of Congress, particularly the bill introduced by Representative Bates of Pennsylvania, to retire him as a naval constructor, with the rank of rear admiral.

ELEVATED TRAFFIC HINDERED.

Fireman Buried in the Debris in New York Blaze Extricated.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The falling wall of a fire-swept six-story factory building on Wooster street today buried a fireman on the ground floor in its debris. Chief Croker and a squad of firemen, who narrowly escaped the crash, extricated the pinioned man, who was but slightly injured. The fire caused a loss estimated at $150,000, and tied up traffic for a time, during the busiest hours of the morning. As a result thousands of persons on their way down town wedged into already crowded trolley and subway cars, causing the worst traffic congestion of the new year.

The fire started on the third floor and was bursting through the roof when the firemen reached it. Chief Croker ordered the power shut off on the elevated line. The cause of the fire is unknown.

FOURTH BOMB EXPLOSION.

Owner of Wrecked Saloon in Chicago Unable to Explain Cause.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—The fourth bomb in the neighborhood about Princeton and Archer avenues and Twenty-second street early today wrecked the saloon of J. Mankfrese. Patrolman Hafner of the Twenty-second street station was passing the place at the time of the explosion and was knocked down and stunned by the explosion. Twenty-five tenants in a lodging house above the station were routed out by the explosion, but none were injured. Whether the explosion may be identified as of gambling personal spite or labor origin the police are unable as yet to say. Marchwak declared he had received no threatening letters and had no personal enemies who might have been responsible for the affair.

CONTRACT MAY COST $4,000,000.

Baldwin Works Receive Orders for Engines for Harriman Line.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—Announcement was made here today that a contract for 109 engines has been awarded the Baldwin Locomotive Works of this city by the Harriman railroad system and that the contract price is between $3,500,00 and $4,000,000. The contract calls for the delivery of the engines during the spring and summer months of this year and the order insures steady employment to thousands of men until next fall.

THE UNLICENSED PLACES.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

M. Briand, the premier of France, one of the strongest men France has produced for a long time, said in debate the other day these words: "The government is determine to combat alcoholism. This is a question of national interest; the very life of the nation is at stake."

The chairman of the license commissioners the other day said that the saloons in Newport were a thousand times better than ever before. If he referred to their cleanliness and conveniences I have nothing to say. I never frequent them and cannot tell anything about their internal arrangements. A question which is more important than even that is this: Is drunkenness diminishing? Are there less arraigned in our courts for crimes committed by the use of alcohol? I venture to say there has been no improvement in this regard.

Mr. Mahan suggests, and I think rightly, that much of this drunkenness comes from the unlicensed places. I think that is where we have to look. I have before me the names and addresses of the men who have taken out United States certificates to sell alcohol. These certificates were taken out last July and therefore are running on to next July. We are allowed but 64 saloon licenses, counting both wholesale and retail. Four clubs have been granted licenses. Ten are held by druggists. As only 50 licenses were granted by the commissioners, there are but 64 legal licenses to dispense alcoholic liquors in the city of Newport. Now, how many certificates are in force? Just 85. This is 21 more than are legally granted by the city. The United States certificate must be taken out as well as the city license in the case of saloons and clubs.

The men who are selling under the United States certificate, having none from the city, are committing a crime in the eyes of the law. The United States certificate gives no right to sell without the license from the city. One man who has but one wholesale license from the city took out three United States certificates for retail selling. Now, as each of these certificates costs $25, it is presumed that they were intended to cover illegal selling. The courts have also decided that the possession of these certificates is prima facie evidence of sale and can convict. Moreover, these certificates must be placed where they can be seen at a glance.

You can see the unfairness and illegality of allowing these men to sell in this way, while the honest man has to pay his $500. Why should these people have such an immunity? Who protects them in their nefarious traffic? Why should any man be compelled to take out a license that costs him $500 while other men can sell for $25? Why don't these legitimate sellers protest against such injustice? It looks as if these men who pay the legal fee are afraid to protest against this injustice. Perhaps they are, but why? Will not the common sense of the community answer.

All the rant about prohibition not prohibiting is ridiculous in face of these facts. There are places all over this city where strong drink can be had without the trouble of going to a licensed saloon. Can any one think of what alcoholism has done in our city and what it is doing today without seeing that M. Briand is right "The very life of the city is at stake."

Joseph Cooper.

It was voted to make a donation from the balance in the treasury to the playground committee, as an expression of gratitude for the aid given the Association.

Norman Sayer was elected football manager for the present year.

On motion of Manager Curry of the basket ball team, the Association voted to buy a stop watch for the use of the athletic teams.

A vote of thanks was given Superintendent Bisbee of the Old Colony Street Railroad Company for assistance given the Association.

Under the supervision of Physical Instructor Chase, class teams have been organized at the Rogers High School and a series of games between them will be played during the winter. It is planned to play these after the first-team games, on certain Wednesday afternoons. The first in the series will follow the games with the Taunton High School, and will be between the Junior Middle and Senior Middle teams, the line-up being as follows: Senior Middles—Robson, Ward, Barlow, forwards; Peckham, A. Ebbs, centre; Hoar, Frank Shea, backs. Junior Middles—Helm, Jennings, forwards; Pier, centre; Fiumber, Cottrell, Lee, backs. The schedule is not completed, but the next game will probably be between the Juniors and Seniors, whose line-ups are not yet announced. The game with Taunton is the last which Rogers will play at home for two weeks. Next week the team is to play in Woonsocket Friday evening, and in East Greenwich the following afternoon.

Manager Brown of the hockey team has secured a game with the Prospect Heights Athletic Club of Providence for Saturday, and the ice and weather permitting it will take place on Easton's Pond in the afternoon.

TWO RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

There was a mix-up of freight cars at Fall River about 5:45 this morning. Some cars were overturned and one came near going into the crab pond, and both tracks were blocked near the Ferry street depot until about 8 o'clock, when one track was cleared. The 8:20 train out from here went by, but the passengers on the earlier train were transferred around the wreck. The engineer of the freight was injured.

The railway mail clerk running to this place was injured this morning so that the mail car came in without a clerk, one of the train men handling the mail. This also meant that the car was delayed, arriving at 11 instead of 9.

OUR GREAT JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE NOW IN PROGRESS.

INNOVATION SALE

Of Two New Models in the World-Famous

Nemo Self-Reducing Corsets

BEGINNING WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4.

An event of the utmost importance to every woman, for in this Sale we shall offer the GREATEST VALUES the corset trade has ever known.

The new Nemo models, Nos. 319 and 321, produce a greater degree of figure-reduction, with more complete comfort, than ever before accomplished by any corset sold at so low a price.

Thousands of women who see these new models will instinctively say: "THAT'S THE VERY CORSET I'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR."

The most novel feature is the broad bands of semi-elastic Lastikops Webbing across the back of the skirt, which not only reduce the hips and upper limbs, but actually produce the modish "INSLOPE" required by the semi-bobble skirt—an ultra-stylish effect that every woman will see and recognize at a glance.

No. 321 For tall and medium stout figures. High bust, very long hips, broad bands of Lastikops Webbing reduce and firmly hold in the hips and upper limbs, yet are elastic enough to give perfect ease when you are seated. Reducing devices reduce and support the abdomen. Lastikops hose supporters. Fine white coutil, sizes 19 to 36 .....

No. 319 For short-waisted stout women. A model similar to No. 321, but with lower bust and lower under arm. White coutil, sizes 19 to 36.....

LOSS WILL FALL ON BANKS.

Three Bags of Registered Mail Stolen in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Three bags of registered mail, with contents valued at $50,000, have been stolen during the past few days in San Francisco or on the journey across the harbor to Oakland, according to the Call.

"The stolen sacks," the Call says, "contained late Christmas shipments and money orders, drafts, checks and currency forwarded by local banks to close their year's accounts in the east and northwest. The loss will fall most heavily on the banks."

ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Aldermen Postpone Other Matters in View of Absence of the Mayor and One Member.

The Board of Aldermen held the first weekly meeting of the year Thursday evening. In the absence of Mayor Boyle and Alderman Mahoney, there was just a quorum present and the members did not take up some matters which might have been considered. President Shepley presided.

The weekly pay rolls were approved for the following amounts: Streets and highways, $533.81; city officers, $235.01; public buildings, $11.54; firemen in theatres, $26.

Bills of George M. Rex for supplies, $35; of Cassius U. Hallock, dog constable, for dogs, $76; of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society and Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of $100 each, for rent of polling places, were all approved.

The petition of Norman Whitney, administrator, for remission of tax, was referred to the assessors.

The petition of Lillie S. Sheffield and others, for a granolithic walk on Edward street, was referred to the Committee of Twenty-Five.

The quarterly report of the dog constable was received.

Archie E. Gill applied for licenses for three pool tables at West Broadway and Marlborough streets, and the licenses were granted.

Daniel McLeod applied for a peddler's license to sell coal. It was laid over for a week.

A resolution was passed authorizing the city treasurer to pay the chief engineer the weekly pay of the firemen and take a receipt from him. This is in accord with the custom for some time. The money is sent around to the men, who do not need to go to the City Hall to draw it.

The city clerk was authorized to ask for bids for receiving the city's deposits and paying the city treasurer's checks; also, for bids for bonds for city officials.

Chief Kirwin was authorized to buy in the open market at market rates fodder for the fire department for the current month.

Alderman Kelly reported on the petition for a telephone pole on Spring and Webster streets, that there is already a pole at the corner. He recommended that permission be given to place a pole about 35 feet from Spring street, on Webster, and this was done.

At 8:18 the board adjourned.

INTERVENTION IN CUBA.

Government May Maintain Itself Until After Another Election.

Keeping the Peace Expensive—Speaker Cannon Grows Sarcastic When Applying New Rules.

[Washington Correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—It is very difficult to obtain definite information as to just what is going on in Cuba, but it is the opinion of all familiar with conditions in the island that intervention by the United States is bound to come and when this country again goes into Cuba it will be for all time. Perhaps that is one reason why there is such an effort on the part of Americans in Cuba to bring about another revolution and intervention. The probabilities are that the present government can maintain itself until after another election.

Elections are fatal to the peace of Latin American republics, as the people of Spanish descent do not take kindly to defeat and generally become revolutionists. Cubans are no exception to the rule, and it is expected that as soon as an election is held there will be trouble. There is no doubt that our military authorities are taking into consideration the possibilities of another intervention. These officers are figuring on the expense of intervention, and, although the cost of our last trip to Cuba with an army is not accurately known, it amounts to $7,000,000.

"Emperor William can land an army in Cuba with less than one third the expense of what it costs us," remarked an officer in the War Department. "In the first place he has the troops all ready to move on short notice. In that respect a country ready for war or on a war footing can go into military action with a great deal less expense than a country on a peace basis. Then Germany has the ships ready to convert into transports on short notice. Our people had to charter everything possible up and down the coast and fit them out as transports, which was very expensive." It is an interesting fact that about half the cost of the intervention in Cuba was for the quartermaster's department, which furnishes army transportation.

Information from different states where Senators are to be elected indicate that there will be several deadlocks during the month which will keep Washington very much interested. Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey promise to furnish interesting situations in the east, while Ohio, Iowa and Montana will keep politics astir in the west. With uncertain conditions in West Virginia and Tennessee the South will contribute its share to the Senatorial contests, which are attracting so much attention. The whole Senate is interested, because the Senators want to know who will be their associates for the next six years.

Speaker Cannon never misses an opportunity to make sarcastic references to the changes made in the House rules in spite of his protest. The day the House adjourned for the recess a matter came up which Congressman Stephens of Texas was particularly anxious to have considered. No one objected to it, but the additional rules showed how ironclad they were in preventing deviation from the lines laid down. It was calendar Wednesday, and in reply to Stephens Cannon said: "Unfortunately on this day, settled by a majority vote of the House, nothing is in order except calendar Wednesday business."

Then Stephens asked to have the resolution considered by unanimous consent, to which the Speaker grimly replied: "The power of even submitting unanimous consent to the House has been taken from the control of the Speaker. There are two days in each month that by righteousness have been set apart for unanimous consent in order that we may preserve our manhood and be patriots." The last statement refers to the fact that members complained of having to beg the Speaker to grant them recognition for asking unanimous consent and that it was humiliating and destroyed their manhood.

Congressman Bartholdt of St Louis has introduced a bill to restore the canteen on military reservations, which means that permits to sell liquor on such reservations shall be granted. It can never be done. The government is much more likely to go further in the direction of restricting liquor than in granting more freedom in its sale. It may even become necessary to refuse government permits for the sale of liquor within certain prescribed limits—say a mile or two—of military and naval reservations. It is claimed that saloons near military posts are now making most of the trouble for the soldiers.

Arthur W. Dunn.

Edmond Thery, the French economist, figures that the maintenance of Europe's armed peace footing in the last 25 years cost 111,000,000,000 francs, approximately $22,000,000,000, which involved an increase in the public debt of the European states of from $25,000,000,000 to $30,000,000,000, and constantly excluded from productive industry 195,000 officers and 3,500,000 men.

REPORTS OF UNFRIENDLINESS.

Japan Not in a Position to Fight Against Foreign Countries.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 6.—Japanese newspapers received today devote much space to comments on the despatches regarding the inadequacy of the Pacific coast defenses of the United States. The Japanese editors protest against the inference that Japan is unfriendly to the United States. Quoting a number of comments, the Eijun Tsushin, a Tokio news agency says:

"It is strange but true that the fever of Americaphobia, supposed to be rife in Japan, is not known in Japan. It must be stated candidly that Japan is not in a position to fight against a foreign country be it America, England or Germany. While we admit that Japan and America have great interest in China these interests are of a commercial character and will not affect in the least, the political and commercial relations commanded by both the countries."

SEARCH FOR WOULD-BE ASSASSIN.

Police Captain Sullivan of Spokane Shot and Fatally Injured.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 6.—Vigorous search is being made here for some clue to the identity of the would-be assassin who last night shot and fatally injured Police Captain John Sullivan. Sullivan's assailant fired through the window of the captain's home, where the captain was seated reading his evening newspaper. Sullivan was taken to a hospital and cannot recover. He was formerly chief of police here and is well known throughout the northwest. The police are looking for a convict whose capture and conviction for robbery was brought about by Captain Sullivan and who was recently paroled against the vigorous opposition of the police captain. He is alleged to have declared he would "get" Sullivan.

"PING" BODIE TO GO EAST.

Heavy Hitting Outfielder Signs With Chicago-Americans.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—"Ping" Bodie, the heavy hitting outfielder of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League, has signed a contract with the Chicago-Americans for 1911 and will start east to accompany the club on its training trip about February 15. Bodie won a reputation last season by his ability to knock out home runs on the local grounds.

STUBBORN ECZEMA ON HANDS

"Some five years ago I noticed small pimples breaking out on the back of my hands. They became very irritating, and gradually became worse, so that I could not sleep at night. I consulted a physician who treated me a long time, but it got worse, and I could not put my hands in water. I was treated at the hospital, and it was just the same. I was told that it was a very bad case of eczema. Well, I just kept on using everything that I could for nearly eight years until I was advised to try Cuticura Ointment. I did so, and I found after a few applications and by bandaging the hands well up that the burning sensations were disappearing. I could sleep well, and did not have any itching during the night. I began after a while to use Cuticura Soap for a wash for them, and I think by using the Soap and Ointment I was much benefited. I stuck to the Cuticura treatment, and thought if I could use other remedies for over seven years with no result, it deserved a fair trial with a severe and stubborn case. I used the Ointment and Soap for nearly six months, and I am glad to say that I have hands as clear as anyone. It is my wish that you publish this letter to all the world, and if anyone doubts it, I will give them the name of my physician, also the hospital I was treated at." (Signed) [illegible] University St., Montreal, Que., Sept. 14, 1910.

SCHEME TO DRIVE OUT THE JAPANESE.

Details of Recent Riot at Tien Tsin Just Received.

Over 1,000 Students Bring Injury on Themselves in Demonstration.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 6.—Details of the rioting at Tien Tsin, last month, following the clamor for the immediate opening of a Chinese national assembly and the granting of a constitution, were received today by steamer Empress of Japan. A great mob, in which over 1,000 students were the organizing forces, made a demonstration in front of the yamen of the viceroy. Many of the youths cut off joints of their fingers and some are reported to have broken their arms. Banners and documents inscribed with blood were much in evidence. The viceroy refused to show himself saying he was ill. His secretary promised to memorialize Pekin in behalf of the rioters.

At Mukden and other cities the agitation continued unabated, and the coming holidays of the Chinese new year will be marked by great demonstrations in many cities. Several Japanese newspapers of Tokio describe this movement on the part of the students as a scheme to drive the Japanese out of Manchuria, under the guise of promoting the immediate opening of a national assembly.

MASCAGNI BEWILDERED.

Composer of "Ysobel" Receives Puzzling Letter from America

ROME, Jan. 6.—Pietro Mascagni, composer of "Ysobel," the opera which may or may not be produced in New York this season, was in a flutter today over the receipt of a letter from his American impressario which he said both astonished and bewildered him. The opera was written for Miss Bessie Abbott, and was to have been produced at the New Theatre November 21. The present correspondence has to do with the hitch between the composer and the New York producers, which has resulted in Mascagni remaining in Rome. Mascagni said the letter received in the morning's mail was dated December 22 but posted in New York December 27. Its contents and tone surprised him greatly. The writer, he added, referred to Mascagni's "hold-up methods" and "unreasonable and unwarranted attitude."

The chief trouble, according to the composer, seems to be in regard to the manner of payment for the concerts which Mascagni is to give in America. While the understanding of this matter seems to be clearly set forth in the letter, the writer complains that he has not received the orchestration. Mascagni says the score was ready a month ago, but according to his contract it must remain in the possession only of the representative of the publisher. Mascagni is this representative and he expected to take the work with him if he had sailed for America as he had planned to do, yesterday. In any event, it could not be used in New York unless he was there. As already told, he did not sail because of the cablegram instructing him to await the receipt of today's letter.

This message, the musician said, was also contradictory. In one place the writer said: "We are ready and willing to carry out our obligation to give 'Ysobel.'" In another place this sentence appears: "We return all materials to Sonzogno (the publisher) and are disbanding our organization. We have given up the idea of producing the opera."

POLICEMAN KILLED BY ROBBER.

Two Young Men Hold Up Night Clerk at Hotel McKay in Duluth.

DULUTH Jan. 6.—William Murzary, aged 20, and Angot Johnson, bellboy and night porter respectively of the Hotel McKay, early today robbed and shot at the night clerk, and escaped with $50 belonging to the hotel. They were arrested and placed on a street car, after a chase, and while being taken back to the city asked that they be allowed to go inside the car. This request being granted, one of the youthful bandits pulled a revolver which had escaped the attention of Policeman Harry Chesmore, who had made the arrest, opened fire on that officer and killed him.

The robbers then held up the passengers and crew of the street car and escaped, over the Northern Pacific railroad bridge, it is believed. Police and citizens are in pursuit. Automobiles, motorcycles and the entire police force have been thrown into the saw mill district, where the robbers may be. Out on the ice of St. Louis bay policemen have been stationed to prevent an escape into Wisconsin.

The two boys entered the hotel about 3:45 o'clock this morning. Clarence Stubsted, the night clerk, and Charles Firoved, the night porter, were standing beside the desk. "Hold up your hands," shouted one of the boys, pointing a revolver. The clerk and the porter thought the boys were joking. To show that they were in earnest one of the boys fired a shot through the door near the desk, and the clerk and the porter put their hands above their heads.

The youths then marched them into the dining room and ordered them to stand against the large iron post in the middle of the room. While one of the boys covered the two men with their revolvers the other hastily gathered some table linen and tied their hands to the post above their heads. The boys then returned to the desk and went through the cash register, taking about $50 in cash, and escaped.

MASSACHUSETTS HOUSE AITS.

Recognition Taken of Centennial of Birth of Charles Sumner.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—Official recognition of the centennial of the birth of Charles Sumner was taken today by the Massachusetts house, which passed a set of resolutions commending his public services, especially in regard to slavery. The resolutions were offered by Grafton Cushing of Boston, who followed with an address reviewing the life of Senator Sumner. Several other members, including a few Democrats were heard, and the resolutions were carried by a rising vote.

Fourteen blacksmiths and the same number of assistants have been appointed to work on the portable wagons.

RESULT OF EMPERORS' MEETING.

Reported Agreement Between Russia and Germany on Persian Affairs.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—An evening paper publishes what purports to be the text of an agreement between Russia and Germany on Persian affairs, and supposed to be a result of the meeting of Emperor William and Emperor Nicholas at Potsdam last November. According to the text printed Germany disclaims any political interest in Persia and recognizes Russia's interests in Northern Persia. Russia on her part, agrees to co-operate in building the long proposed Bagdad railway and its branches, and to give German commerce in Persia equality of treatment. This pact quite likely will be resented by France and Great Britain as disloyalty on Russia's part to their entente.

The sequel of the visit of the Russian monarch to Germany has been anticipated jealously in England, where it was believed the too cordial relations between Germany and Russia would be found to have been followed by a better understanding possible to the disadvantage of this country.

Several years ago a German company secured a concession from the Turkish government for the construction of a railway designed to form a short route between the Levant and the Persian gulf, but lacked the funds to proceed with the enterprise. An attempt to interest British financiers failed because it was said of the feeling that such a line would injure British trade with India. France declined to assist the project, on the ground that it might menace the interests of her ally-Russia, in the near east. An appeal to Austria found that country without the necessary capital for such an investment.

From time to time the project has been revived until now, according to the London despatch, St. Petersburg which was originally understood to be opposed to the road, has agreed to co-operate with Germany in its construction.

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY ACT.

Department to Rest Case on Logic of Late Solicitor General Bowers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—On the logic of the dead the Department of Justice will rest its case of upholding the protection of the living, extended by the employers' liability act of Congress. The department today sent to the Supreme Court the brief of the late Lloyd W. Bowers, solicitor general, in defense of this act of Congress. Tacked to the brief was a tribute to Mr. Bowers from Attorney General Wickersham. It read:

"The foregoing brief was prepared by the late solicitor general, with his accustomed care and ability. In order that it may properly be before the court, I adopt it and ask its consideration."

The act which Mr. Bowers defended was passed in 1908 to replace the employers' liability act, just declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, because it applied to interstate commerce as well as to interstate. Mr. Bowers argued that the present law avoided this objection. He defended the law as a legitimate exercise of Congress over interstate commerce.

"Congress had a right to decide and did decide," he said, "that railroad employes would not be killed or injured as often; and would themselves feel more secure against killing and injury if the rule of the common law, which makes an employe himself look out for and take the consequences of negligence of a co-employe, were changed so as to make the employer himself watchful against injury of one employe from negligence of another."

The new policy was defeneded as making interstate commerce liable to less interruptions, more expeditious, more economical, more secure and in all ways more efficient. Mr. Bowers took up the various features of the new law and presented a defense against the attacks which might be suggested to them. The constitutionality of the act has been raised in at least three cases before the court. These will come on for oral argument in the Supreme Court in a few days.

SATISFACTORY AGREEMENT.

Vacuum Oil Company and Hungarian Minister Come to Terms.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—A satisfactory agreement has been reached between the Vacuum Oil Company, an American corporation, and the Austro-Hungarian minister of finance, in the controversy between that company and the oil concerns controlled by Austro-Hungarian capital. The State Department today received this information in a cablegram from Ambassador Kerens at Vienna.

The agreement provides for the removal, within eight days, of oil repressive measures affecting the American company, but is subject to the approval of the entire cabinet. The dispute was initiated, it is said, by local Austro-Hungarian refiners, who employed antiquated methods and machinery. They found that competition with an up to date plant was reducing the price of oil beyond their power of competition, so they appealed to the ministry for relief. The result was the issuance of decrees imposing upon the transportation of oil conditions which seriously jeopardized the business of the American company. Under the restriction prescribed oil could be transported only at night and the use of the government sidings on railroads was prohibited. The question was taken up with the Austro-Hungarian authorities by M. H. Davis, commercial agent of the State Department, during his recent trip abroad.

The Vacuum Oil Company is said to be an auxiliary of the Standard Oil Company. It is organized under the laws of Austro-Hungary, but is controlled entirely by American capital.

A similar controversy is threatened in Roumania, where the American-Roumanian Oil Company, is a strong competitor with Roumanian interests. In this case the modern methods of American concerns are met in the interests of the Roumanian refiners, by a decree dividing the home market. No restriction, however, is imposed upon the exportation of oil. The issue, it is said, has not assumed a serious phase.

WHY SOME GET RICH AND OTHERS DON'T.

[Columbian Magazine.]

The accumulating of capital by saving is largely a question of self-control and character. The power to resist self-indulgence for the sake of a distant gain lies at the bottom of the growth of capital. The majority of people who are poor are so because they spend unwisely and to the limit of their income. It is amazing to note how frequently people of slender means buy articles which are regarded as unnecessary luxuries by the well-to-do. The Chinese have taught us that there is no income so small that savings cannot be made from it.

man and Representative James B. Littlefield as secretary. The Providence and North Providence Republicans met and nominated the present officials of the Sixth judicial district court—Judge Baeckert, Associate Judge Gorham and Clerk Wright—for re-election. The Pawtucket Republicans nominated Judge Tuck and Clerk Emerson of the Eleventh judicial district for re-election.

The Newport county Republicans will nominate the present incumbents of county and district court offices, including Sheriff James Anthony, Superior Court Clerk Sidney D. Harvey and Judge Robert M. Franklin and Clerk George H. Kelley of the district court.

The general treasurer today issued a circular to capitalists and investers, calling for sealed proposals for the loan of $500,000 for the proposed improvements of Providence harbor. These bids are to be opened January 26. The bonds are to bear four per cent interest, the highest rat ethe state has offered in recent years. The bonds are exempt from taxation and Treasurer Read expects that they will sell at premium.

The shellfish commissioners have received reports from engineers and chemists on the pollution of the waters of the bay. The chemists show that the work of the city of Providence in its precipitation plant at Field's point simply classifies the sewage and does not remove the dangerous matter. The engineers report upon the number of towns which empty their sewage into the bay. These reports will form part of the annual report of the commissioners.

OPPOSITION TO MAJOR ABBOT.

Major Harden to Receive Warfield Support for Adjutant General.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 6.—This morning Major Archibald Harden of the First corps, coast artillery, Rhode Island National Guard, was announced as a candidate for adjutant general. This will give Major Abbot opposition which was not anticipated yesterday, when Lieutenant Colonel Warfield withdrew. It is now said that Major Harden will probably receive the support which was expected to go to Warfield. While the Spanish War contingent and many other lovers of the military service are strong supporters of Major Abbot, there is an element in the militia opposed to having a regular army officer at their head. Major Harden has been in the militia 20 years. He formerly commanded the Seventh company, First regiment.

DR. WILSON APPLIES FOR PENSION.

[New York Tribune.]

It seems that Dr. Wilson, lately president of Princeton University and now governor-elect of New Jersey, has applied for the pension from the Carnegie Foundation to which college professors are entitled on retiring after a certain amount of service. It is a perfectly commonplace and routine incident, such as many other teachers have participated in without comment. Yet Dr. Wilson's friends in the press are hailing it as an "honor" and as a "distinction that is to be conferred," while his opponents are exploiting "unfavorable comment" upon his readiness to become a "pensioner" simultaneously with his drawing a large salary as governor of the state, as if the act involved some moral turpitude. All of which on both sides is the veriest nonsense.

10—First prices in the stock market were mostly unchanged but the market soon developed an improving tendency under the leadership of Union Pacific and Reading, which advanced ½ and ⅝ respectively. Canadian Pacific also jumped 1¾ and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie 1⅝.

11—Special stocks made considerable progress upward, but the market generally moved narrowly and seemed to lack effective leadership. The Canadian group was bid up confidently and several other specialties that have been showing recent strength were also strong, but the movement in these stocks did not influence the general list much.

Noon—Extensive buying of the American Tobacco stock revived gossip about the forthcoming judicial decision. In the outside market the stocks of controlled companies were strong and on the exchange heavy buying of the 4 per cent bonds sent them up two points and the preferred stock 1¾. Elsewhere in the market operations were continued in a rather indifferent manner. There were some good advances in some of the less active stocks. Near noon there was a decline in the standard stocks. Reading, United States Steel and various other issues falling slightly below yesterday's closing. Bonds were firm. Money on call steady at 4½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4½ to 5 per cent. Exchanges $394,333,498; balances $14,508,843.

REMISSION OF TAXES.

City Solicitor Sullivan's Opinion Regarding the Right of the Representative Council.

Following is the text of the opinion of City Solicitor Sullivan on the question put to him by the Representative Council as to the right of the Council to remit taxes. It will be noted that at the end he says that where there was no cause for assessing a tax the Council can remit a tax assessed without cause. This seems to justify the action of the Council in remitting taxes reported to have been assessed illegally, or erroneously.

"To the Honorable Representative Council:

"In response to your request for opinion on the right of the Representative Council to remit taxes:

"There appears to be nothing in the statutes, general or public, or in the ordinances, giving to the Representative Council the right to remit taxes assessed against personal or real estate of any citizen or resident.

"Section 2 of chapter 56 of the General Laws exempts certain persons and classes of taxable property from taxation. In my opinion an assessment or tax levied upon any of the persons or classes of property enumerated in that section could be remitted by the Representative Council.

"Article VII, section 2, of the Constitution of the state of Rhode Island gives to the legislature of this state the right to enact legislation granting to cities and towns the right to remit taxes levied or assessed upon persons doing military duty within the year, mariners while at sea, discharged soldiers of the war of the Rebellion and persons who because of extreme poverty are unable to pay their taxes. The legislature of this state has taken advantage of this right and its enactment is found in section 4 of chapter 59 of the General Laws. This however, refers to poll tax payers.

"In the absence of any special or public legislation on the matter of the right of the Council to remit taxes it is my opinion that the practice obtaining in this city for 25 years or more should be discontinued.

"It may be stated that the only right vested in this Council to remit taxes once assessed is in those cases where, for instance, the subject matter of the assessment or taxation did not exist, or in other cases where it appears that the facts existing at the time of the assessment do not warrant levying or assessing a tax at all."

BOILERS MADE IN PROVIDENCE.

New Equipment for Cruiser Montgomery a Departure in Government Steam Engineering.

Cruiser Montgomery has been supplied with six water-tube boilers, aggregating 3,000 horsepower made by the Almy Water Tube Boiler Company in Providence. The boilers were delivered at the Philadelphia navy yard, where the Montgomery is at present, laid up, four weeks after the receipt of the contract.

The installation of water-tube boilers of this type in any but torpedo craft and the smaller navy vessels is a new departure for the Navy Department, and is thought in maritime circles to mark a new policy in government steam engineering. The boilers to be placed in the Montgomery will occupy about 40 per cent of the space and weigh about 40 per cent as much as the fire tube boilers, Scotch type, that they replace. The Montgomery's new boilers are similar to four which are being made in Providence for the new screw steamer of the New Bedford, Martha's Vineyard & Nantucket Steamboat Company, under construction at Fore River, Mass.

THE STORY OF "BILLY."

"Billy," the comedy in which Sidney Drew will be seen at the Opera House, was first produced at Daly's Theatre, New York, last season and caught on with a rush; in fact, it was often described as a gale of laughter and a storm of fun. After a run of nearly a year in New York Mr. Drew took the play to the Cort Theatre, Chicago, and it kept the people laughing there all summer.

The story is a simple one on which to hang so much pleasure. The plot deals with the experiences of Billy Hargrave, a football hero who is in love with a maiden by the name of Beatrice Sloane. At the time the story begins Billy has lost his four front teeth in a big football match, and having replaced the lost molars with artificial ones pretends to be ill and takes a steamer trip to Havana, to have time to accustom himself to the use of them in seclusion. He is accompanied by his sister, but by a strange coincidence Billy discovers that Miss Sloane, the lady of his heart, is also a passenger. His rival in love, Sam Eustace, who seeks to make progress while Billy is out of commission, is also a passenger. Billy in his excitement loses his false teeth and purloins those of his prospective mother-in-law. The complications which arise keep the audition in laughter from the rise of the first curtain to the final fall, when Master Cupid regulates everything to the world's entire satisfaction, also Billy's.

Mr. Drew brings with him a cast including Gladys Drew, Blanche Moulton, Anna Bronaugh, Elizabeth Ariana, Caroline Harris, Frank McDonald, Charles Clagston, Prince Miller, Frederick Nicholls, Sidney Drew, Jr., Hevlyn Benson and Frederick Quimby.

COGGESHALL AND MUMFORD DIVISIONS.

Coggeshall division, League of Good Citizenship, held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Ernest Howe in charge and President William Hagg in the chair. The ordinance for the month—"All sidewalks supported by a curbstone shall be cleared of snow within the first five hours of daylight after the snowfall has ceased"—was first copied in the notebooks and 365 pieces of rubbish picked up were reported.

Mrs. Howe spoke of city ordinances relative to slippery sidewalks, water dripping from drains or gutters, vehicles on the sidewalks, projections deposited on the sidewalks, projecting steps, overfull ash barrels and swinging gates.

The report of the last meeting was read by the secretary. Miss Helen Reynolds, and several verbal reports of the condition of the city were given. There was an excellent attendance and Miss Harriet Downing, principal of the Coggeshall, and Mrs. Charles Belknap were present.

Mumford division, Miss Austin in charge, also held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Inspector of Plumbing and Inspector of Milk Review Their Work During 1910

The annual report of Robert L. Olsen, inspector of plumbing, to the Representative Council is as follows:

The work of this office has been better than the average for several years, although not as many plans were filed as in the year 1909. The reason for this is that in the year 1909 there were a great many of the old outside privies condemned by the Board of Health that made numbers of small jobs, for each of which a plan had to be filed. This year we have had not so many plans, but the jobs of plumbing work were larger and in a great many cases more expensive, which would make the estimated cost of the plans this year far ahead of 1909.

There is still a great deal of work which should be done in the city to place things in a good sanitary condition. I have in my former reports recommended a house-to-house inspection and would again call your attention to the same, as I think it would be beneficial to the owner as well as the tenant. A house or tenement will rent to more advantage with modern sanitary conveniences than the one without.

There are still a great many cesspools and privies to be done away with, in many cases where they are located there is no public sewer. There should be a plan devised whereby these districts could be sewered.

During the year 1910 221 plumbing plans were filed, 46 for new houses and 174 for old. On the plans filed 425 inspections have been made besides many minor inspections.

Summary of work.

Plans filed for new houses,	46
Plans filed for old houses,	174
Total plans filed,	220
Inspections made,	425

Water closets 330, bathtubs 170, wash basins 214, sinks 124, wash trays 114, slop hoppers 15, urinals 24.

Estimated cost of plans filed, $110,334.

The following is the annual report of the inspector of milk, George C. Shaw:

The inspector of milk respectfully reports that during the year 1910 the law regulating the sale of milk was published as the law requires; 253 licenses were granted, 109 to dairymen and 144 to stores; 4 were for cream, and 2 for skimmed milk only.

No tests were made of cream or skimmed milk. No samples were taken from drug stores, restaurants or saloons. Four of the dairymen sold out or gave up business before samples were taken; also one grocer.

In all 256 samples were taken; 31 were sent to Providence to be tested for preservatives. Mr. Greenlaw, secretary of the Board of Health, also made tests of these samples, which he found free of preservatives. The milk is of good quality and tests higher than the law requires.

The daily average number of quarts is: New milk 12,217, skimmed 245.

SIDNEY DREW, IN "BILLY."

ON A SLIPPERY FLOOR.

Father Mathews, in Their Own Hall, Have No Difficulty in Beating the Y. M. C. A.

The Father Mathew team had no difficulty Thursday evening in defeating the Y. M. C. A. in the City Basket Ball League, by a score being 50 to 11. The game was played in the Father Mathew hall, where the highly polished floor, the only one in the league, is of great advantage to the home players. It is doubtful if any team in the league can beat the Father Mathews on its own floor, because of the disadvantage which the slippery surface puts upon their opponents. The Y. M. C. A. has a lively team, but it could not play its game at all on this floor. Edward, one of the best backs in the league, was unable to do much more than slip and slide, without control, and in consequence Martin, whom he opposed, had almost a clean field, scoring 11 baskets. The Father Mathew team, on the contrary, was able to play a strong passing and team game and won easily.

A feature was the few successful free tries made by the two teams. In all 19 fouls were called and only five were made good for points, the Father Mathew team scoring only one and the Y. M. C. A. four.

In the first half the Y. M. C. A. boys, Dwyer, Brack and Sullivan scored five points, Brack and Sullivan each making a goal from the floor and Dwyer a goal from a foul. Father Mathew made 19 points, Martin doing a large part of the work.

In the second Arnold took R. Sullivan's place at forward and Mohr relieved Anthony in the backfield for the Y. M. C. A., while Shea went in for Sullivan at right back on the Father Mathew team. In this half the Y. M. C. A. made six points, four on goals from the floor and two from fouls, while the Father Mathew team added 31 to the score, Martin again leading. Mohr made a sensational one-handed shot for the Y. M. C. A.

The line-up is as follows:

Father Mathew	Y. M. C. A.
Byrnes, r. f.	l. b., Anthony, Mohr
Martin, l. f.	r. b., Edwards
Fitzsimmons, c.	c., Dwyer
W. Sullivan, Shea, r. b.	l. f., R. Sullivan, Arnold
J. Dwyer, l. b.	r. f., Brack

Score—Father Mathew 50; Y. M. C. A. 11. Goals from floor—Byrnes 2, Martin 11, Fitzsimmons 5, W. Sullivan 3, Shea, J. Dwyer 2; Mohr, R. Sullivan, Brack 2. Goals from fouls—Fitzsimmons, Dwyer 2, Arnold. Referees and Umpires—McMahon and McManus. Scorer—Jansson. Timer—Walters. Time—Two 20-minute halves.

The standing of the teams in the league follows:

	Won	Lost	Percentage
Father Mathew	4	1	.800
St. Joseph's	2	1	.667
Algonkins	2	2	.500
Tigers	1	2	.400
Galahads	2	3	.400
Y. M. C. A.	0	4	.000

Thursday evening at the Algonkin Club house the Algonkin Rah! Rah! Boys defeated the Stewart Athletic Club by a score of 21 to 14. The play was fast but rough, while good passing and shooting won the game. The backs of the Algonkins deserve credit for their work. Hall and Townsend excelled for the winners and Peterson and Connolly for the Stewarts. The line-up and summary:

Rah! Rah! Boys.	Stewarts
Hall, c. f.	r. b., Noonan
Issler, l. f.	l. b., Ritt
Townsend, c.	c., Connolly
Priester, r. b.	r. f., Sullivan, Horrocks
Hale, l. b.	l. f., Peterson

Field goals—Hall 4, Issler 1, Townsend 3, Peterson 2, Ritt 1, Connolly 2, Horrocks, Noonan 1. Referee—Carr. Timer—Sullivan. Scorer—Hershman. Time—Two 20-minute halves. Fouls—Townsend 3, Hale 2.

The Favorites of Fall River, whom the Father Mathew Society team are to meet, are without doubt the best team now playing basket ball in Fall River, and the best which has played in the Father Mathew hall. This year it is greatly strengthened by the addition of Morley at centre, who has played several times against the Naval Reserves of this city. The Tabs expect an exceptionally hard game and Johnny Roche of the Naval Reserves will play for them. John McMahon will referee the game.

Next on the City League schedule is the game between the Algonkins and Galahads. Both these teams have improved since they met last. The Galahads are slightly heavier than the Algonkins and are quite sure they will win, but the Algonkins have been practicing shooting and passing and are sure to make the Galahads work hard.

MUSIC, DINNER AND DANCING.

Varied Program for Entertainment of Guests at Hatchet Club's Annual Ladies' Night.

The Hatchet Club entertained at the Aquidneck House Thursday evening, on the occasion of its annual ladies' night, and as usual had a large number of friends present to enjoy its hospitality. The committee in charge, consisting of John T. Allen, chairman; Chester B. Talman, Daniel T. Coughlin, George H. Wilmarth, Alexander Fraser, Oscar Schultz and Frank Gallagher, had arranged a program which proved pleasing to the guests and was carried out in a satisfactory way. The decorations, which had been arranged by Schultz, were also excellent, being a liberal display of American flags, bunting and streamers of laurel and holly.

The first part of the entertainment was a musicale, including duets by M. F. Sprague and L. B. Walker, vocal solos by Messrs. Sprague and Walker, Mr. Thomas B. Connolly, Miss Alice Donovan and Miss Mary Leonard; violin solo by Mr. Edward Lodter, reading by Miss Jessie Martin and selections by Professor Lodter's orchestra, Miss Florence Carley was the accompanist. The musicale was followed by a dinner served by the Newport Catering Company and dancing, the latter being continued till a late hour.

CLARKE—ROBERTSON.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Robertson, daughter of Mr. William Robertson, to Mr. Leroy E. Clarke of Shepard, Mich., took place Thursday evening at St. Mary's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Father Reddy and a small company of relatives and friends being in attendance. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mollie Marshall, and the groom by Mr. John F. Fisher of the Naval Training Station. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will make their home at 21 Mann avenue in this city, where a wedding reception was held immediately after the ceremony.
